Courier staff report
Early this morning, the Deputy Volunteer Fire Department was on the job putting out a fire at a home in a rural area near Deputy — despite having lost the company's firehouse and most of its equipment in a fire less than a month ago. In the interim, a week before Christmas Deputy's firefighters got an early present when the German Township Fire Department of Indiana's Vanderburgh County donated its 1979 rescue engine to Deputy's rebuilding. Deputy's firefighters immediately drove to the area near Evansville to bring back the retired-but-well-kept-truck. This morning was the truck's "Maiden Voyage," as Deputy Fire Chief Mike Hazelwood called it. The company was able to save its brush truck in the Dec. 17 fire at its house. But firefighters were overcome by the smoke filling the garage and could not get to their firefighting gear in the garage as well as the company's other three vehicles: a pumper and two tankers. The structural interior equipment and 16 sets of gear for firefighters were lost. That didn't stop the fire company this morning when it rushed to the early-morning call, where it was joined by the Hanover, Kent and Montgomery-Johnson fire companies as well as the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department and King's Daughters Hospital emergency responders. Fire Chief Hazelwood said Deputy has been making a list of what the company needs to replace and expects to have that list soon. Meantime, they have firefighting duties to take care of.

Southwestern returns before dawn

Southwestern Jefferson County Consolidated Schools returned to classrooms this morning after the holiday break. Students boarded buses and entered their buildings before daylight. Mary K. Owens of Hanover (below) wore her new battery-powered neon vest and continued to help students across South Main Cross Street as she has since the late 1990s. Indiana's Legislature, which convened this week, will be taking up issues of school safety after concerns raised by recent accidents involving schoolchildren boarding and riding buses and crossing streets, accidents that resulted in the deaths of children. MCHS student charged in Dec. 3 threats; 4 felony counts

Courier staff report
The Jefferson County Sheriff's Department and the FBI arrested a young Madison woman in the threats made to Madison Consolidated High School a month ago on Dec. 3, 2018. Hanna R. Warren, 18, of Madison faces four counts of intimidation, a Level 6 felony. She is in custody at the Jefferson County Jail awaiting an initial court hearing. A news release from Jefferson County Sheriff Dave Thomas said one count is for the email threat made to the school itself and the other counts are for email threats made to individual MCHS faculty members. The threats caused MCHS and MJHS administrators and local law enforcement to place the schools on a lockout status. During a lockout, no one is permitted to enter or leave the school building without permission and a security check by law enforcement, which can include passing through a metal detector and having bags searched. The news release said: "A significant amount of law enforcement hours were expended at the school and during this expansive investigation. All threats, especially those made against our schools, will be dealt with in the most serious of manners and all resources will be utilized." The investigation into the threats was led by Madison's School Resource officers Jacob McVey and Tim Armstrong, both of whom are also special deputies with the sheriff's office. Jefferson County Sheriff's Detective Yancy Denning and agents from the F.B.I. assisted the school resource officers with the investigation. Superintendent of Madison Consolidated Schools Jeff Studebaker extended a sincere "thank you" and "job well done" to all of the law enforcement agencies involved with this case. "Officers McVey and Armstrong, in particular, put in a substantial number of hours on the case and did not let it go until the suspect was apprehended. The entire school community thanks you two for your tireless efforts to keep our children and staff safe."

Fire turns truck to toast in trying to fix battery problem

The Kent Fire Department responded to the 1100 block of South County Road 1000 West Thursday afternoon for a vehicle fire. Ken Scroggiam said his truck caught fire in his driveway while the vehicle was connected to a charging device. He was charging the 2008 Ford F-150's battery to take it somewhere to put a new battery in because of recent problems. Scroggiam said he is most upset about the inconvenience of having to deal now with the heavily damaged vehicle and trying to find another reliable used truck. No one was injured in the incident. Madison Fire Chief Bill DeVries after other vehicle fires last fall gave some safety tips for those who may face a vehicle fire:

- If possible get the vehicle out of the flow of traffic
- Stop the vehicle and put it in park
- Shut the vehicle off if time and conditions permit
- Get out, help anyone who cannot get out of the vehicle and stay out
- Get away from the vehicle
- Call 911
- Let responders know if you have anything flammable or hazardous in the vehicle

2 years before re-election bid, Holcomb banks $4.2M

Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS — Republican officials say Gov. Eric Holcomb has $4 million in campaign funds nearly two years ahead of his expected re-election bid. The state GOP says Holcomb ended 2018 with more campaign cash in the bank than any previous second-year governor. Holcomb’s political operation has even more money available when adding in the about $800,000 in Lt. Gov. Suzanne Crouch’s campaign account and the state GOP’s some $900,000. Holcomb’s fundraising comes as no active Democratic challengers have yet emerged for the 2020 campaign for governor. State records show Holcomb spent $14.8 million on his 2016 campaign, with $7.6 million of that coming from the Republican Governors Association. He defeated Democratic nominee John Gregg, whose campaign spent $16.6 million.

Suit filed over gay inmate's jail suicide

ALBION — Noble County faces a wrongful death lawsuit alleging that a gay inmate killed himself in its jail after being denied mental health treatment and enduring harassment over his sexuality. Markus Middleton’s partner is suing Noble County’s sheriff, jail commander and jail staff. The Kendallville News-Sun reports the federal lawsuit alleges that Middleton was 23 when he hanged himself in October 2017 after spending 23 days in the jail after his arrest on misdemeanor false informing and resisting law enforcement charges. The suit contends the Albion, Indiana, man was “continuously mocked, harassed, threatened, and denied mental health treatment” even though jail officials were told Middleton suffered from bipolar disorder and serious depression. A message seeking comment was left Thursday for an attorney for the county’s liability insurer carrier, Travelers.

Ex-aide pleads not guilty to child porn

CROWN POINT — A former teacher’s aide has pleaded not guilty to charges of possession of child pornography, voyeurism and obstruction of justice. The (Northwest Indiana) Times reports Aaron Lopez Saldana, 47, entered the plea Thursday in Lake Superior Court. A probable cause affidavit alleges Saldana recorded prepubescent and teenage boys without their knowledge as they showered or used the restroom at his Calumet Township home. In some videos investigators have uncovered, Saldana was pictured with young boys “in sexual positions.” The images came to light after two men discovered them during a Dec. 12 burglary at Saldana’s home. A friend of one of the men alerted police. Lake Ridge School Board voted Dec. 17 to fire Saldana from his eight-year position at Lake Ridge Middle School. Saldana remains in custody.

Alabama pension fund buys newspaper chain

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — Alabama’s employee pension fund, with nearly 360,000 members and some $44 billion in managed assets, has become sole owner of one of the largest chains of local U.S. newspapers, the company said Thursday. CHNI LLC has been acquired by the Retirement Systems of Alabama, the company announced in a statement. The newspaper group includes 68 daily newspapers and more than 40 non-dailies plus websites in 22 states, including more than a dozen sites in Indiana. The Montgomery, Alabama-based newspaper group is being spun off Raycom Media Inc., which is being purchased by the Atlanta-based Gray Television Inc. Raycom was owned by the retirement system.

Union sues GM, wants laid-off — not temps

DETROIT — The United Auto Workers union is accusing General Motors of violating a national contract by using temporary workers instead of employing full-timers who were laid off from its factories. The union filed a federal lawsuit in Cleveland alleging that GM has temporary workers at its pickup truck plant in Fort Wayne, Indiana. The lawsuit says GM has about 1,000 workers on layoff from several factories who should be working at the plant. The UAW says its contract with GM requires it to hire the laid-off workers, including 690 at a small-car plant in Lordstown, Ohio, which is scheduled to close in March. GM wouldn’t say how many temporary workers are employed in Fort Wayne, but the company says it started the process late last year to bring in about 50 laid-off Lordstown workers. About 35 will be working in Fort Wayne by the end of January, GM said in a statement. The company said it’s talking with the union about staffing in Fort Wayne, and it declined further comment. In November, GM announced plans to shutter five factories this year as it adjusts to lower demand for cars.

ISP releases name of trooper in shooting

CRAWFORDSVILLE — Indiana State Police have released the name of a state trooper who fatally shot a man last week along a highway. Police say Trooper Daniel Organ shot Glenn A. Rightsell, 56, of Linden. Organ joined the agency in October 2017, is assigned to the Lafayette post and has no disciplinary record. He’s on administrative leave. Police have said Organ fatally shot Rightsell on Dec. 28 after he failed to follow his orders and grabbed a handgun on his own waist. The shooting occurred when Organ stopped to investigate a vehicle parked in front of an abandoned SUV along U.S. 231 about 40 miles northwest of Indianapolis. Rightsell’s nephew says his uncle always carried a gun on his belt and was working on his daughter’s stalled SUV at the time.

Lubricant spill shuts interstate ramp in Gary

GARY — An industrial lubricant spill has shut down a ramp to an interstate. Wednesday’s spill came from a truck hauling the pig-fat-based material on the southbound ramp from Cline Avenue to eastbound Interstate 80/94 in the Gary area. The (Northwest Indiana) Times reports the ramp is closed for cleanup, which could take as long as a week. The cleanup is being done by National Industrial Maintenance. Company Vice President Mike Mears said the lubricant is nonhazardous, but it’s similar to a petroleum-based liquid. He says workers “have to make sure we get it up so it doesn’t make a sheen, to ensure it doesn’t become a slippery surface.” Mears says 20 employees were working at the site Wednesday, blasting hot water onto the substance, then vacuuming it up.

Kentucky

Flu activity on the rise

LOUISVILLE — Health officials and federal data say flu activity is on the rise during the 2018-19 season. Louisville Metro Department of Public Health and Wellness spokesman Dave Langdon told the Courier Journal that Jefferson County had 570 flu cases reported during the last week of December, compared to 202 cases the week before and 36 cases two weeks prior. Langdon urged people who haven’t gotten a flu shot to get one. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention data shows that Kentucky is one of nine states that experienced high flu activity for the week ending Dec. 22. Other states included Alabama and Colorado. The CDC says flu activity historically peaks in February in the United States, though different seasons have different peaks and the flu virus actually circulates year-round.

Kentucky seeking conservation officers

FRANKFORT — Kentucky’s Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is seeking to fill dozens of conservation officer positions. State officials say in a release that positions are available in 37 counties. The notice went out in December, but the deadline to send in an application for many of the jobs is Jan. 9. Preferred applicants would be candidates with peace officer professional standards training and two years of law enforcement experience. Selected applicants will undergo 12 weeks of training in the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Academy before being placed with a field-training officer for 16 weeks of hands-on training. To apply, go online to personnel.ky.gov and click “Find a Job.” Applicants must be 21 years old and possess a valid driver’s license.

State police raffling Corvette for camp

FRANKFORT — Kentucky State Police are raffling a Corvette to raise money for a free summer camp. Trooper Island Camp offers a chance for boys and girls ages 10 to 12 to spend time at Dale Hollow Lake in Clinton County. The camp is operated by state police and is financed entirely by donations. The program benefits children whose families cannot afford to send them to other camps. Each year, about 700 children attend the camp. It offers recreation, guidance and activities designed to build good citizenship and positive relationships with law enforcement officers. Raffle tickets for a chance to win the 2019 Corvette Stingray Coupe can be purchased for $10 each at any state police post or online. The winning ticket will be drawn Aug. 25 at the Kentucky State Fair.

Judge ignores edict to stop civil cases

CHARLESTON, West Virginia — A federal judge in West Virginia is ignoring an edict that certain civil cases in his district be suspended during the U.S. government’s shutdown. Judge Irene Berger of West Virginia’s southern district had granted an order postponing civil cases involving government agencies. But Judge Joseph Goodwin in Charleston ruled Wednesday he’s going to hear cases assigned to him. At the request of U.S. Attorney Mike Stuart, Berger last week ruled such civil cases will be stopped temporarily. She cited the “lapse of congressional appropriations funding the federal government” that required workforce reductions within the U.S. attorney’s office and other federal agencies. But Goodwin wrote, “The government should not be given special influence or accommodation in cases where such special considerations are unavailable to other litigants.” Federal courts in other states, including Kentucky and in Manhattan, New York, also have suspended work on civil cases involving U.S. government lawyers. U.S. Sen. Joe Manchin of West Virginia said in a statement Wednesday that federal courts in the state will be able to operate until next week because they have enough funding through court fee balances and other funds. He said many staff “will continue to work without pay to ensure the judiciary and law enforcement continues.”

Edelen files paperwork for governor's race

FRANKFORT — Adam Edelen is returning to politics, filing paperwork Thursday to begin a campaign for governor three years after he was defeated for re-election as state auditor. Edelen sent a letter to the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance announcing that he intends to raise and spend money as a Democratic candidate for governor. Thursday’s filing does not put him on the ballot for the May primary, but it is a strong indication he will run for governor. Edelen did not return a phone call seeking comment, but he plans to make a formal announcement next week. Kentucky is one of three states that will elect governors in 2019, along with Louisiana and Mississippi. Republican Gov. Matt Bevin has said he will run for re-election this year, but he has yet to file for the office or begin to raise money. Bevin’s approval ratings have plummeted after he criticized public workers who opposed his efforts to change the state’s struggling public pension plans. Two other Democrats have already launched campaigns to oppose Bevin, including Attorney General Andy Beshear and state House Minority Floor Leader Rocky Adkins.

Mom indicted in drowning of son, 4

MORGANTOWN — A grand jury has indicted a mother on a manslaughter charge in the death of her 4-year-old son. The Daily News reports Leanna Cantrell, 41, of Morgantown was indicted Dec. 26 and arrested the next day in the death of Clark Cantrell. The indictment accuses the woman of wantonly causing her son’s drowning death on May 1 by leaving the child unsupervised. Court records do not list an attorney for Cantrell. She is scheduled to be arraigned Tuesday in Butler Circuit Court.

Saturday, January 5, 2019

Don’t let changes made by others disturb you or your plans. Put your ideas in play instead of letting anger take control and set you back. New opportunities will unfold if you are focused on positive pursuits and doing what’s best for yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Keep an open mind, listen to others and make suggestions, but don’t fall for a sob story or take on someone else’s battle. A romantic encounter will enhance your life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) — Being a quiet observer is favored. Physical activity will help you dissipate pent-up emotions that are causing stress. A romantic evening will improve your life.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) — Put what’s important to you first and foremost. Whether it involves relationships, family or self-improvement, give it your all and don’t stop until you are satisfied with what you achieve.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Be careful how you handle others. Be precise and don’t promise more than you can deliver or give in to anyone asking for too much. Make positive but realistic suggestions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Take hold of whatever situation you face and control the outcome. You can bring about positive change if you are willing to do the work. Concise communication will make a difference.

GEMINI (May 21-June

20) — Nurture relationships and stick to the truth. If someone is being vague, ask direct questions. Getting information firsthand will help you avoid jumping to conclusions or making a mistake.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Listen to what others are saying. A heated discussion will lead to a no-win situation. Look for solutions and be willing to compromise. Rely on experience and avoid being stubborn.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You’ll need an outlet that will stimulate your mind and tire you out physically. Grow from the experiences you encounter instead of making a fuss or doing something reckless.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Know your boundaries and move forward with confidence. A competitive event will bring out the best in you. What you have to offer will be recognized and will draw interesting propositions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) — Learn all you can and explore how to best use what you’ve got to get what you want. Update personal documents that can help you with pending problems and legal issues.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — The past will be a reminder of how to best handle a situation you face now. Take a unique approach to domestic matters. Don’t share information with past rivals or their associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) — You can have fun without going overboard. Too much of anything will make you look bad and leave you in an awkward position. Caution and secrecy are in your best interest.

Friction with brother-in-law

Dear Annie: My twin sister and brother-in-law visited me for the recent holiday. I love my sister, and we have always gotten along well. As is stereotypical with twins, we grew up inseparable and have remained emotionally close, even as the physical distance between us widens. We now only see each other a few times a year, and I cherish these times.

The difficulty I have is that her husband is insufferable. He is perpetually in a bad mood and always disagreeable. Neither my husband nor I really like it when he’s around, and his demeanor seems to indicate the feeling is mutual. I want to spend time with my sister, but I find it less compelling knowing that her husband will be coming along. Do you have any suggestions on how I could handle this? — Sad Sister

Dear Sad Sister: To quote the often acerbic but always insightful Oscar Wilde: “Some cause happiness wherever they go; others whenever they go.”

Annie Lane

feel comfortable addressing the situation with her. Let her know that you sense a lack of interest from him in spending time with you, and ask her what you could do to strengthen the bond between you and him. Empower her to create a solution with her husband, and let her know you want to make it more comfortable for him. If that doesn’t work, suggest that you two take sister trips in which you meet at a neutral location and keep the focus on you two or a small circle of people; no spouses, because that might alienate her husband.

Sounds as if your sister is on the “wherever she goes” end and her husband is in the “whenever” camp. Given how close you are with your sister,

Dear Annie: I have some issues with social anxiety, and my workplace isn’t helping. I’m unsure of when to act professionally and when to act more casually. I’m sure there’s a balance between the two, but I’m struggling to find that balance. Everyone at my workplace is really nice and friendlier than I would have expected, but it seems there’s an invisible line not to be crossed. How can I gain clarity on this gray area of work-versus-social etiquette? If I’m too professional, I appear cold and distant. If I’m too friendly, I appear out of line and don’t appear to take my job seriously. — Confused in Corporate

Dear Confused: In my experience, it’s always better to err on the side of professionalism, even if it feels a bit stilted and unnatural at times. You will never regret being a bit too formal in the workplace, but you may regret being too informal. That being said, you can gradually work toward a more familiar relationship with your co-workers over time. After you’ve been there for a few months, you might ask a co-worker who is your peer (i.e., not a supervisor) to grab coffee or dinner. People tend to open up more and behave more casually outside the office, even when with co-workers. Then, having established that rapport outside the office, you’ll feel a bit more comfortable at work.

Dear Doctor: I read that a doctor knew that a woman had thyroid cancer just by seeing her neck on TV. Why was a visual diagnosis so easy? What happens next?

Dear Reader: The incident you're referring to took place in the spring of 2018, when a head and neck surgeon from New York was watching "Beachfront Bargain Hunt," a popular real estate show on HGTV. He noticed an area of swelling on the front of the home buyer's throat; when she turned her head or stretched her neck to look upward, the swelling became prominent enough that he believed it could be a thyroid mass.

Unsured of how to find the woman, he posted his concerns to his Facebook page. With the power of the internet, the surgeon and the home buyer were quickly put in touch with each other. He explained his suspicion and urged her to undergo diagnostic tests, specifically a sonogram and a fine needle biopsy. She followed his advice, learned that she did indeed have a malignant tumor, and immediately sought appropriate treatment.

Interestingly, this was not the first time that thyroid cancer has been diagnosed on HGTV. Several years prior, a nurse watching the popular home renovation show "Flip or Flop" discerned what she believed to be a tumor on the neck of one of the hosts. Her concerns proved to be correct. The tumor was malignant, and the host underwent successful treatment for his thyroid cancer.

The reason these tumors were visible is due to the location of the thyroid gland, which sits below the Adams apple and is just beneath the skin. The thyroid measures about 2 inches across and consists of two main lobes, which make it appear somewhat like a bow tie, or a butterfly. The gland produces the hormones used by the body to regulate metabolic rate. It also contains specialized cells that produce calcitonin, a hormone that plays a role in managing blood levels of calcium and phosphate. Diseases of the thyroid such as Graves' disease, hyper- or hypothyroidism, and thyroiditis often cause the entire thyroid to swell, which is referred to as a goiter. Thyroid cancers are more often asymmetrical swellings, and thus can be distinctive.

In addition to a visible tumor, symptoms of thyroid cancer can include trouble swallowing, difficulty in breathing, a persistent cough in absence of a cold and pain in the front of the neck that may radiate up to the ears. When thyroid cancer is suspected, diagnostic tests may include imaging of the gland, blood tests, a radioiodine scan to test thyroid function, and a biopsy to search for cancer cells. Depending on the type of cancer that is present, as well as the stage at which it is identified, treatment consists of surgery, radioiodine or hormone therapy, chemotherapy or radiation. Targeted therapies that enlist the aid of the immune system to fight the cancer are also now being used.

The good news is that the most common types of thyroid cancer are very treatable, with five-year survival rates of 98 percent. Both of the individuals in the HGTV diagnoses have reported successful treatment.

The award winner
for last year

By Phillip Alder

Each year, the International Bridge Press Association gives out awards in several categories. Last year was different, in that every winner received an all-expenses-paid trip to Sanya, China, to compete in the Hainan Bridge Festival.

This was the Gidwani Family Trust Defence of the Year winner. Look at the North and East hands. South was in four hearts. West led the spade ace. Given dummy's singleton, East followed suit with the two, a suit-preference signal for clubs. West cashed the club ace and continued with a second club to East's king. What did East do now?

Sitting East was Geo Tislevoll. The deal was played during the 2018 North Island Teams Championship in New Zealand. The original article about the deal was written by Liam Milne from Australia.

Tislevoll built up a picture of the deal. Since West had not bid four spades, he had probably started with at most two spades. If West had a singleton, a spade return now would work because he could ruff with a heart higher than North's five. West, a passed hand, could not have the diamond ace, and was unlikely to have a natural trump trick.

Many players would shift to a trump, but South wins the trick, cashes the diamond ace, ruffs a spade, discards his last spade on the diamond king and claims.

Leading the spade king is not good enough, because South's jack sets up. Tislevoll found the killing play when he led a low spade! Yes, declarer took the trick, but he still had to lose either a late spade trick or, if he tried to ruff his last spade, a trump trick to West.

OBITUARIES

Richard Browning

Richard D. “Bull” Browning, 62, of Milan, Indiana, formerly of Switzerland County, died Thursday, Jan. 3, 2019, at Kentuckiana Medical Center in Clarksville, Indiana. Arrangements are pending at Haskell & Morrison Funeral Home in Vevay.

Larry Claghorn

Larry J. Claghorn, 73, of Madison died Thursday, Jan. 3, 2019, at his home. Arrangements and additional information are pending at Lytle Welty Funeral Homes & Cremation Service, Main Street Chapel or at lytlewelty.com

Dr. L. Gus Dunker

L. Gus Dunker, DDS, 68, of Madison died Wednesday, Jan. 2, 2019, at King’s Daughters’ Hospital.

He was born May 31, 1950 in Seymour, Indiana, to Lee and Mitchell Dunker. He had called Madison home since 1959. He graduated from Madison Consolidated High School in 1968, marking the first of many educational milestones. He attained a bachelor of arts in chemistry from Indiana University at Bloomington in 1973 and four years later completed a doctorate degree in dental surgery at the same institution. With his new diploma in hand, he returned in 1977 to the town of his birthplace and joined Dr. Pedon’s practice. He served the Seymour community nine years before opening his own practice in 1986 in Madison at West and Third Streets. He was a faithful member of Faith Lutheran Church, where he served as an elder. He held professional memberships in the American Dental Association, the Indiana Dental Association and the South Eastern Dental Association. A very civic-minded, compassionate person, he donated both his time and dental expertise to consult patients at Madison State Hospital and the Salvation Army, plus served on the boards of Girls Inc. and the Madison Railroad. In his spare time, he enjoyed fishing, listening to Motown music, gardening, tending to his dogs and playing basketball and racquetball. Although five decades had passed, he also fondly remembered his teenage years on the MCHS golf team. Above all of this, his most cherished moments entailed time spent with his family, wife, daughters and grandchildren. The community, colleagues, clients, friends and neighbors will long remember Dr. Dunker’s signature traits — love for his patients, service to community, soft smile and gentle nature. He was a devoted husband, son, brother, loving dad and grandfather (Peepaw).

He is survived by his wife, Sue Ann Patterson Dunker of Madison; two daughters, Lee Ann Hall and Sarah Wimpee, both of Madison; his mother, of Madison; two brothers, Paul Dunker of Columbus, Ohio and Donn Dunker of Louisville; four grandchildren; two aunts; three nieces and two nephews; and several cousins and other relatives.

He was preceded in death by his father.

Services will be at 11 a.m. Monday at Faith Lutheran Church. Burial will follow in Cliff Hill Cemetery in Versailles, Indiana.

Visitation will be at Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre Sunday from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. and at the church Monday from 10 a.m. until the service.

Expressions of sympathy may take the form of donations to the Faith Lutheran Church or the Salvation Army. Cards are available at the funeral homes and the church.

Lena Hoffman

Lena Margaret Kruse Hoffman, 91, of Madison died Thursday, Jan. 3, 2019, at King’s Daughters Hospital. Arrangements will be announced by Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre.

Sherry

Hoopengartner

Sherry Kay Hoopengartner, 71, of Carrollton, Kentucky, died Wednesday, Jan. 2, 2019, at her daughter’s home in Florence, Indiana.

She was born Jan. 1, 1948, in Michigan City, Indiana, to James Smitha and Mary Meeks Smitha. She spent most her life as a homemaker raising her children. Some of her favorite activities included gardening, going to yard sales and taking long drives enjoying the beautiful scenery. She had attended the Family Worship Center in Carrollton.

She is survived by four daughters, Cindy Perry of Florence, Indiana, Teresa Cox, Crystal Ferguson and Angela Dagnan, all of Carrollton; two sons, David Steelman of Milton, Kentucky, and Jimmy Steelman of Carrollton; two sisters, Sue Courtney of Ghent, Kentucky, and Donna Dennis of Warsaw, Kentucky; three brothers, Mike Hoopengartner and Terry Hoopengartner, both of Carrollton, and James Smitha of Ghent; 15 grandchildren; and 17 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Danny Woods; her parents; one sister, Edith Smitha Gordon; and two brothers, Jerry and Timmy Hoopengartner.

Services will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Tandy-Eckler-Riley Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Moffett Cemetery in Milton.

Visitation will be at the funeral home Saturday from 11 a.m. until the service.

Tamara

Kurmanaeva

Tamara Kurmanaeva of Hanover died Tuesday, Jan. 1, 2019, at River Terrace Health Campus in Madison.

She was born July 2, 1943, to Dzarmahan Kurmanaev and Olga Okolo-Kulak during the family’s internal exile in Kzyl-Orda (now known as Kyzylorda in Kazakhstan) in the former Soviet Union. Her childhood was spent in Alma-Ata (now known as Almaty), which was the capital of the Soviet republic of Kazakhstan in the former Soviet Union. Her father was as a professor of chemistry in Kzyl-Orda at Korean Pedagogical University and later a leading chemist in Alma-Ata. She graduated from a musical college in Alma-Ata where she majored in piano and then from Moscow State University of Theater Arts named after Lunacharskii with a master’s degree in theater arts. Her ability influenced an appreciation in a wide spectrum of the arts such as music, ballet, opera, painting, architecture, literature and, of course, theater. Her involvement with the theater arts extended beyond performances and study detail, to befriending renowned directors, actors and writers, and publishing articles as a theater critic. She continued her career in the arts at Hanover, teaching the Russian language at Hanover College as well as giving private piano lessons to the wider community of Jefferson County.

She is survived by her husband, Prof. Yefim Katsov; two children; and her grandchildren.

Teacher salaries at forefront as 2019 legislature opens

By SCOTT L. MILEY
CNHI News Indiana Reporter

INDIANAPOLIS -- Tightening agency budget requests may help provide funding this year for teacher salaries, House Speaker Brian Bosma said on Thursday, the opening day of the 2019 Indiana General Assembly.

“We’ll find money for it. It will be a tight budget year,” Bosma said after a half-hour session of the House. “We’re finding some ability to right-size some of the agency budgets that have planned reversions in them and get them down to a more workable, realistic level and free some money up that way.”

Bosma, R-Indianapolis, said a more detailed plan, which is being arranged with teacher organizations, would be presented next week.

When legislative agendas were first discussed in December, teacher salary increases were not on the table, with some officials saying salary boosts would take at least two budget cycles.

The current session will set up a two-year budget cycle, but focus is expected on funding the Indiana Department of Child Services, which wants more funding for caseworkers, and coverage for the Medicaid health care program for low-income families.

But teachers cannot wait up to four years for salary increases, House Democrat Leader Phil GiaQuinta, D-Fort Wayne, said.

“We must raise education funding to allow for an increase in teacher pay,” GiaQuinta said. “We should not pass the buck to local districts. We control the funding, not them. It is our responsibility to address this crisis and we need to do it now.”

House Republicans hold a 67-33 majority.

“Let’s be candid. We know how to count,” said GiaQuinta.

also announced their agenda.

“This session, my colleagues and I will be prioritizing efforts to maintain a balanced budget, protect our most vulnerable children, support education, improve school safety, and help Hoosiers find good jobs,” said Senate President Pro Tem Rodric Bray, R-Martinsville.

“Given the revenue forecast and the budget needs of the Department of Child Services, there’s no question that we have many challenges before us,” Bray said.

Committee hearings on bills begin next week.

Also, House leaders announced their annual donation drive would aim to fight child hunger through the Salvation Army.

One in five Hoosier children faces food insecurity such as limited or uncertain access to adequate food, officials said.

Bosma said he hoped to collect 400 backpacks of food. GiaQuinta joined Bosma in making the announcement.

Indiana governor plans major role in hate crimes debate

By TOM DAVIES
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Eric Holcomb asserted Thursday that he’ll be in the middle of the Legislature’s potentially contentious debate over adopting a state hate crimes law.

The Republican governor told reporters just before state lawmakers gathered in the Statehouse to start their 2019 session that he was hopeful a bill would pass after conservatives blocked similar proposals in recent years. When asked how active he would be in lobbying the GOP-dominated Legislature for the bill, Holcomb replied “uber.”

Indiana is one of just five states without laws specifically against crimes fueled by biases regarding race, religion and sexual orientation.

Holcomb repeated his stance that adopting a law is “the right thing to do,” but emphasized the situation was hurting Indiana’s attempts to recruit businesses to the state.

“There’s no reason why we can’t be on the same list as our competitors like Florida and Tennessee and Virginia and Texas,” he said. “We need to get on the right list and off the list that’s holding us potentially back.”

Repeated efforts for an Indiana law have failed amid fierce opposition from conservatives who maintain it would unfairly create specially protected classes of victims and wrongly restrict free speech. Hate crime laws in other states vary to some degree but generally allow for stiffer sentences to be given to people who are convicted of crimes motivated by hatred or bias. Only Indiana, Georgia, South Carolina, Wyoming and Arkansas do not.

A key question in the Indiana debate will be whether an Indiana law should include sexual orientation and gender identity. Democrats strongly support such provisions, but the lopsided Republican majorities — 67-33 in the House and 40-10 in the Senate — mean social conservatives could again derail the bill.

Republican House Speaker Brian Bosma said he expected a few weeks could pass before legislative committees are ready to take action on the issue. But he makes similar economic arguments to Holcomb for adopting a hate crimes law.

“Employers are asking about this issue now,” Bosma said. “They weren’t two years ago or three years ago as they decide where to locate their employees.”

Bosma has warned a drawn-out debate could lead to Indiana facing national derision as it did over the 2015 religious objections law that critics widely panned as a sanctioning of discrimination against the LGBT community and resulted in the state facing boycott threats.

Holcomb is taking a stronger stance after doing little public lobbying in seeking a hate crimes law during his first two years in office — and is calling for a law that includes sexual orientation and gender identity as the state employee anti-harassment policy has done under Holcomb and his Republican predecessors Mitch Daniels and Mike Pence.

“Nothing could be easier than getting this passed and signed into law, just like the employment policy that I have and have had in this executive branch since 2005,” he said.

Cooking classes to help Hancock County learn to eat well

By RORYE HATCHER
(Greenfield) Daily Reporter

GREENFIELD — Healthy365, Hancock Regional Hospital’s effort to promote “health, happiness and wholeness in Hancock County,” has joined forces with the local Purdue Extension.

The two organizations are using their combined resources to sponsor cooking courses based on ingredients people receive from the Healthy Harvest mobile farmers’ market, said Amanda Everidge, Healthy 365 healthy community coordinator.

Recipients already were getting recipe cards in their bags of produce, eggs and meat, but Healthy 365 wanted to do more to help the community learn how to eat well, Everidge said.

The Winter Harvest cooking classes will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. Jan. 8, Jan. 22, Jan. 31 and Feb. 14 at the offices of Purdue Extension Hancock County, 802 Apple St., Greenfield. Classes will show those who attend how to prepare meals with the produce, meat and eggs they receive from the Healthy Harvest.

Those who are interested in attending should call the extension office at (317) 462-1113 at least three days in advance of the class they want to attend.

The mobile farmers’ market, a partnership between the hospital and Brandywine Creek Farms, a part-nonprofit farm northeast of Greenfield, travels to different parts of the county every week, giving residents without access to fresh produce an opportunity to get vegetables at discounted prices.

Physicians at the hospital and Hancock Physicians Network, as well as staff members at the Hancock County Women, Infants and Children office and several other medical offices and churches, can also provide vouchers to people with a financial or health need. Those individuals receive two bags of food for $1.

In its second year, Healthy Harvest expanded its efforts, adding an extra truck to visit more communities in the county every week and also encouraging schools to refer students who may need some extra healthy produce at home. Students who receive free or reduced-cost lunch in all four county school districts can also be referred to receive the weekly food packages, Everidge said.

“We feel like by reaching out to all of these agencies, we’re reaching as many people as possible, and that’s the true mission,” she said.

This winter, Healthy Harvest partnered with another local farmers market, the Hoosier Harvest Co-op, to be able to provide milk to those who receive the food “prescription” packages, and Tyner Pond Farm, a local farm that provides meat and eggs to the recipients as well.

Everidge said a local high school student donated a cow to the Healthy Harvest, giving them the privilege of giving a pound of ground beef in every

U.S. employers add 312,000 jobs

By JOSH BOAK
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. employers dramatically stepped up their hiring in December, adding 312,000 jobs in an encouraging display of strength for an economy in the midst of a trade war, slowing global growth and a partial shutdown of the federal government.

The Labor Department said Friday that the unemployment rate rose slightly to 3.9 percent, but that reflected a surge in jobseekers— a positive for growth.

Average hourly pay improved 3.2 percent from a year ago, up from average wage growth of 2.7 percent at the end of 2017.

The jolt in hiring offers a dose of reassurance after a tumultuous few months as the outlook from the financial markets has turned decidedly bleaker.

Job growth at this pace is a sign that the economy will continue to expand for a 10th straight year, even if overall growth slows somewhat because of the waning stimulus from President Donald Trump’s tax cuts.

Although employers are showing their confidence, the financial markets have become increasingly worried.

Major companies such as Apple say their sales are being jeopardized by the tariff-fueled trade war between the United States and China.

Factory activity in China and the United States have both weakened, with the Institute for Supply Management’s U.S. manufacturing index on Thursday posting its steepest decline in a decade.

The government is about to enter its third week of a partial shutdown, with negotiations stalled over President Donald Trump’s insistence that Democrats agree on funding for a wall along the border with Mexico.

And attacks by Trump on the Federal Reserve over its rate increases have raised doubts about Chairman Jay Powell’s status — a concern for both the markets and the economy.

The expected continuation of steady job growth suggests that such risks might be — for the moment, anyway — overblown.

However, the stock market will have to weigh whether the strong job growth encourages the Fed to hike rates in 2019 more frequently than investors had previously anticipated.

The health care, food services, construction and manufacturing sectors were the primary contributors to last month’s hiring.

Health care and education services added 82,000 jobs in December, the biggest jump since February 2012. Restaurants and drinking placed posted a net gain of 40,700 jobs.

Builders added 38,000 construction jobs, while manufacturers increased their payrolls by 32,000 workers.

Businesses are still searching for more workers. The employment site Glassdoor found that job postings have risen 17 percent in the past year to 6.7 million.

“We really don’t see any slowdown yet,” said Andrew Chamberlain, chief economist at Glassdoor.

Despite the increase in the unemployment rate, the influx of people searching for work coupled with the job gains is an indication that the rate should decline in the coming months.

Economists estimate that it requires roughly 100,000 job gains each month to satisfy population growth and keep the unemployment rate at its current level.

Hiring has easily eclipsed that pace. In 2018, employers added 2.6 million jobs, or an average of nearly 217,000 a month, according to the Labor Department.

Purdue beats No. 25 Iowa

WEST LAFAYETTE (AP) — Carsen Edwards scored 16 of his 21 points in the first half and Purdue beat 25th-ranked Iowa 86-70 on Thursday night.

Matt Haarms had 14 points and Aaron Wheeler added 10 for the Boilermakers (9-5, 2-1 Big Ten), who have won three straight for the first time since starting the season 4-0.

Tyler Cook had 24 points, Isaiah Moss scored 13 and Ryan Kriener finished with 10 for the Hawkeyes (11-3, 0-3), still searching for their first conference victory this season.

Purdue improved to 9-1 in its last 10 home games against Iowa. The Boilermakers hold a 90-76 series advantage, winning 15 of 23 meetings during coach Matt Painter's tenure.

A 9-2 spurt sparked by Haarms snowballed into a 14-3 run and a 28-18 cushion with 7:47 left in the first half. Purdue's lead reached 26 in the second half.

Baylor beats No. 1 UConn

WACO, Texas (AP) — Kalani Brown had 20 points and 17 rebounds as No. 8 Baylor won over a top-ranked team for the first time, beating UConn 68-57 Thursday night and handing the Huskies their first regular-season loss in more than four years.

The Huskies (11-1) hadn't lost a regular-season game in regulation since a 76-70 home loss to Baylor in a Nos. 1 vs. 2 matchup on Feb. 18, 2013 — a span of 163 games. Their only regular-season loss since then was 88-86 in overtime at Stanford on Nov. 14, 2014. They had won 126 consecutive regular-season games, 58 of them non-conference matchups.

UConn is the only No. 1 team Baylor has ever faced in coach Kim Mulkey's 19 seasons. The Lady Bears had lost each of the previous three such meetings, including UConn's last visit to Waco nearly five years ago.

No. 2 Notre Dame rolls

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Marina Mabrey scored 20 points, Arike Ogunbowale had 18 and No. 2 Notre Dame routed Pittsburgh 100-44 on Thursday night for its sixth straight victory.

The Fighting Irish (13-1) rolled in their Atlantic Coast Conference opener. Ogunbowale reached double figures for her 35th straight game, and Mabrey added seven assists.

Notre Dame used two 21-0 runs in the first and second quarters to lead 60-14 at halftime and reached 100 or more points for the fifth time this season.

Jackie Young had 16 points to become Notre Dame's fifth starter with 1,000 or more points. Notre Dame shot 52.3 percent and had 24 assists on 34 field goals while holding Pittsburgh (9-6, 0-1) to 26.6 percent (17 of 64) for the game. Jasmine Whitney led Pitt with nine points.

No. 3 Louisville beats UNC

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jazmine Jones scored 17 points on 7-of-11 shooting, Arica Carter added 14 points and No. 3 Louisville beat North Carolina 73-66 on Thursday night in the Atlantic Coast Conference opener for both schools.

Louisville (13-0) led by 19 points late in the first half, but the Tar Heels (9-6) made it interesting with a couple third-quarter runs. Stephanie Watts' layup with 38 second left in the quarter cut it to 55-47.

North Carolina got within two points four times in the final quarter, but the Tar Heels were never able to take the lead.

Judge allows Person trial

NEW YORK (AP) — A New York judge gave the go ahead Thursday to a trial next month over charges that former Auburn basketball assistant coach Chuck Person accepted bribes from a financial adviser working for the FBI to steer athletes his way.

U.S. District Judge Loretta A. Preska said there was enough evidence to let the case against Person and Atlanta clothier Rashan Michel proceed.

She said federal bribery, wire fraud charges and Travel Act conspiracy charges against Person were supported by detailed descriptions and enough supporting evidence to let a jury decide the case.

The trial is set to start in Manhattan on Feb. 4. Both men have pleaded not guilty.

Persistent Pacers knock of Tigers to reach Rivertown Classic finals

AURORA — Switzerland County has been within striking distance of wins this season only to watch turnovers and other miscues throw victory to the wayside. On Thursday night, the Pacers finally got a game to go their way.

Surging late and holding on for dear life at the end, the Pacers punched their ticket to Saturday's Rivertown Classic championship game with a 71-68 victory over host South Dearborn.

"It's just really exciting," Switzerland County head coach Adam Dennis said. "We talked about it with this group. When you compete all the time and play hard these things happen. We get to do these kinds of things and now we get to go play for a championship."

The Swiss led 8-5 early in the first quarter but lost the lead soon after. For the next 25 minutes, the Pacers battled to regain the advantage, chipping away from an 11-point deficit in the second and third periods then staying within a possession or two well into the fourth quarter.

Persistence paid off. Trailing 56-55 with 4:51 remaining Switzerland County finally got its chance when South Dearborn's Chris Moeller was hit with a technical foul, putting the Pacers at the free throw line and giving them the ball after the fact.

Damian Breeck knocked down 1-of-2 free throw attempts, tying the game 56-56 and the next possession saw Tyler Konkle give Switzerland County a 58-56 advantage. The duo's three points kick-started what would turn into a 9-0 run and the Pacers never

Lady Cubs can't sustain strong early play in loss to New Albany

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer

dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

Madison girls basketball played one of its best stretches of the season during a 20-4 run that allowed the Lady Cubs to build an 11-point lead in the second quarter of Thursday's home game with New Albany.

But Madison was unable to sustain that momentum and New Albany took advantage, pulling away for a 59-48 Hoosier Hills Conference win at Salm Gym.

For Madison coach Sonja Bowyer it was another disappointing performance from her team, a group that she knows is capable of much more than its 5-12 record.

"We know they can be a good team, we've seen it in stretches at times but we just can't sustain it," Bowyer said. "We saw that tonight. They played so well and then they stopped doing what was working."

Madison (5-12, 1-5 HHC) fell behind 8-3 early but over a seven-minute stretch in the first and second quarters, the Cubs dominated the game.

Pressing the Bulldogs into turnovers and attacking on offense, Madison closed the first quarter on a 14-4 run to take a 17-12 lead and then scored the first six points of the second period to push ahead 23-12.

But rather than deliver the knockout punch, the Cubs turned passive and New Albany responded with its own 20-4 run to close the second quarter and take a 32-27 lead into halftime.

"We had them in the bonus in the first quarter because we were being aggressive and then we backed off and they barely got to 10 by the end of the half. We stopped doing what we needed to do to be successful," Bowyer said. "It's like boxing; you punch somebody in the face and you know that they're going to hit you back. Now it's your turn to hit them. That's what you have to do and we didn't do that."

To Madison's credit, the Cubs did open the third quarter by scoring eight-straight points to retake the lead but that surge didn't last long. The two teams traded the lead four times in the third before Taylor Treat hit a shot at the buzzer to give New Albany a 44-42 lead.

The fourth quarter then belonged to the Bulldogs. New

Langford scores 28, as IU defeats Illini, 73-65

By CAMERON STEWART

Associated Press

BLOOMINGTON — Indiana appeared to be in trouble against Illinois in its return from an 11-day layoff.

Then, the No. 21 Hoosiers' defense locked in and freshman Romeo Langford did the rest.

Langford scored a career-high 28 points, Juwan Morgan added 14 points and 10 rebounds and Indiana defeated Illinois 73-65 in a Big Ten matchup Thursday night. The Hoosiers (12-2, 3-0) have won seven straight games.

"I felt like this was my best game so far, all around, maybe on the defensive end, too," Langford said. "I am getting a lot more comfortable and now that Rob (Phinisee) is out for a while with his little injury he has, that caused for me to have the ball more in my hand and I'm comfortable with doing that."

With Indiana looking rusty, the Fighting Illini charged to an early lead, making 11 of their first 18 shots on the way to a 25-15 lead.

Langford shot an efficient 8 for 13 from the field and 11 of 15 from the line for Indiana. The talented freshman set the tone for the Hoosiers in the second half, scoring the first 10 points for the Hoosiers. Langford totaled 19 points in the half on seven shots.

Samson Oladimeji scored 20 points and Giorgi Bezhanishvili added 18 for Illinois.

After being down 10 through the first 9:11 of action, Indiana turned up its defense and limited Illinois to 35 percent shooting for the rest of the game. Indiana forced nearly as many turnovers (21) as field goals allowed (25). Six of Illinois' turnovers came on forced shot-clock violations.

Indiana's defense also sparked its offense, leading to 22 points off forced turnovers.

"Whenever you get a good stop, it just translates to the offensive end," Morgan said.

The Hoosiers have built a habit of trailing early before kicking into full gear, trailing by five or more points in the first half of every game during their win streak.

Indiana head coach Archie Miller stated his team is fully aware of what's needed for them to reach their potential.

"Our guys know that if we're going to be successful, though, it's defense-to-offense, it's not allowing easy baskets. It's rebounding and being able to get down to the other end."

The Hoosiers led by as many as 15 points, but a late run by Illinois, fueled by a three-quarters court press that took the Hoosiers out of rhythm, helped cut the lead to four points. But Langford and Morgan made their free throws late and extended the lead to eight points, the final margin.

The Hoosiers know they will have to play a full 40 minute game on Sunday, as they face second-ranked Michigan.

"It will be definitely a difficult game, it's not easy going to Ann Arbor," Morgan said. "It will be a dogfight for sure, and just like today we had to anchor down on the defensive end and we know Michigan is a great defensive team, so we have to really run our stuff and be crisp on that end."

BIG PICTURE

Illinois: The Fighting Illini lost their third straight and January includes three ranked opponents.

Indiana: The Hoosiers stay hot, winning their seventh consecutive game. The Hoosiers will look to continue that streak with six of their next eight games on the road in conference play.

STAT OF THE NIGHT

The Hoosiers spent much of the night at the charity stripe, taking 35 free throw attempts to Illinois' 12. Indiana made good use of their time at the line, making 25 of their attempts.

INJURY UPDATE

Miller updated the status of guard Rob Phinisee, who missed Thursday's game with a concussion: "I doubt he plays at Michigan. I would take that off the table."

Brierly sees improvement in Lady Rebels

sports@madisoncourier.com

Southwestern went cold in the middle for two quarters and it cost the Rebels a 60-43 girls basketball loss to Austin on Thursday in Hanover.

Southwestern trailed only 11-10 after the first quarter but allowed Austin to break loose for 34 points over the next two quarters while only scoring 17.

That proved to be the difference in an otherwise close game.

“I’m hard to please but I was for the most part pleased with our first quarter defensive efforts — which I haven’t been pleased with most of the year,”

Southwestern coach Devin Brierly said. “I thought we did a good job paying attention to the scouting report, especially with how we wanted to defend Austin. Unfortunately though in the second and third quarters, we had some possessions where we lapsed defensively and it killed us.

“Regardless of the outcome of tonight’s game, I do believe we are one step closer as a team to firing on all cylinders. I can’t wait to see what that looks like and feels like,” Brierly added.

Freshman Kylie Eccles matched a career-high with 13 points to lead Southwestern while Bella Marcum scored 12 and Abby Ralston had 10. But overall the Rebels struggled with their shooting.

“Offensively we got all of the looks we wanted tonight, we just couldn’t buy a bucket. Second quarter we were outscored 17-6. If only we’d hit a couple more shots, it would’ve been a different ball game,” Brierly said. “We had a conversation with those who struggled tonight about having a short memory and just getting into the gym and putting up shots, so hopefully they’ll be anxious to do just that.”

Hannah Beck scored 16 points and Jalen Coomer had 15 to lead Austin.

Southwestern (5-13) hosts Providence on Saturday.

trailed again.

“We have really been working with our guys on competing all the time,” Dennis said. “I didn’t feel like we were quite ready to compete in the beginning of the game but as it went along through the final three quarters our guys started competing harder and harder. How we played late is a result of that effort.”

But even with a lead the rest of the way, that doesn’t mean the Pacers had it easy. Trailing 67-60 with 1:13 left in the game, South Dearborn started its comeback trail and nearly finished it off successfully.

Alex Shackelford’s three-point play cut the deficit to four points and Blaze Coffey’s basket off a turnover put the game at 67-65. Coby Chase’s freebie allowed the Pacers a three-point lead but Nate Pruitt canned a free throw and the Knights trailed 68-66 with 29 seconds to go.

Dalton Tingle answered with two free throws, allowing the Swiss a temporary four-point margin until Tristan Daley knocked down a pair of free tosses to cut the lead back to two. Breck was sent to the line with four seconds left, making the back end of a two-shot foul and extending the margin to 71-68.

South Dearborn (4-7) was forced to go full-court after the made free throw in order to send the game to overtime but a 3-pointer from the top of the key fell short and the Pacers escaped with the win.

Switzerland County shot 17-of-26 from the stripe with 12 of those makes coming in the fourth quarter.

Free throws, not a strong suit of the Pacers this season, saw an improvement and Dennis was pleased to see the ones knocked down saved the day.

“From where we have been with our free-throw shooting, this is a lot better,” Dennis said. “All those people that think we aren’t working on free throws, we absolutely are. Once we figured it out tonight we started competing and doing some really good things”

Pacing Switzerland County out to its early first quarter lead then leading the come-from-behind efforts, Breck led all scorers with a career-high 30 points including 17 points in the first half. He scored nine points in the fourth quarter.

“I did think Damian (Breck) competed from the start,” Dennis said. “He was ready to go and he had 30 tonight. He was really good defensively tonight.”

Tingle added 12 points for the Pacers with nine of those coming in the second half.

Shackelford led South Dearborn with 18 points and Ethan Getz added 15 points.

Switzerland County (3-8) goes for its first Rivertown title since 2014 on Saturday, taking on Rising Sun.

The Shiners, who fell 59-41 to the Pacers in their first meeting on Dec. 7, knocked off Lawrenceburg 55-47 in Thursday’s second semifinal.

Rebs swim to 10 wins in loss to Bulldogs

sports@madisoncourier.com

Southwestern swimmers combined for 10 event wins — five each by the girls and boys teams — but the Rebels lacked the depth to hold off Batesville in a dual meet Thursday in Hanover.

Batesville’s girls won 86-58 while the boys won 96-52.

“We had some good swims, but once again we were outnumbered,” coach Shelly Anderson said.

The five wins by the Lady Rebels included two each by sisters Kassey and Julia Worcester and another by Belle Crawford.

Kassey Worcester won the 100-yard butterfly in 1:11.37 and the 100 backstroke in 1:16.80 while Julia Worcester was first in the 200 freestyle in 2:23.50 and 100 breaststroke in 1:24.29. Crawford’s win came in the 200 individual medley in 2:44.46.

Caleb Geary scored two of the five wins by the Southwestern boys — the 200 individual medley in 2:30.00 and the 100 breast in 1:12.25 — and was in on a third win as part of the Rebels’ 200 free relay team of Ethan Besse, Geary, Ethan Stewart and Andrew Stoner with a time of 1:50.84.

Besse scored an individual win in the 200 free with a time of 2:24.66 while Stewart was first in the 50 free in 24.77.

Crawford scored a runner-up finish for Southwestern’s girls in the 100 free in 1:07.20 and Trinity Stoner was second in the 500 free in 6:58.86. The Lady Rebels’ 200 medley relay team of Crawford, Natsuki Fukazawa, Kassey Worcester and Julia Worcester was second in 2:16.50 and the 200 free relay team of Julia Kaiser, Kassey Worcester, Crawford, and Stoner was second in 2:05.78.

Southwestern’s boys got runner-up finishes by Andrew Stoner in the 100 fly in 1:19.40 and the 100 breast in 1:27.04; Stewart in the 100 in 58.68 and Besse in the 100 back in 1:13.98. The Rebels’ 200 medley relay team of Besse, Stoner, Geary and Stewart swam second in 2:06.09.

Kaiser scored a third place for the Lady Rebels in the 100 back in 1:33.03 while Trinity Stoner was third in the 50 free in 31.66. The 400 free relay team of Kaiser, Stoner, Fukazawa and Julia Worcester was third in 5:01.36.

Southwestern will be in action at 11 a.m. Saturday at Madison in a meet that includes Switzerland County, Austin and Oldenburg.

— Madison’s junior varsity girls basketball defeated New Albany 36-17 at home on Thursday.

Jordyn Bilz scored 10 points and Megan Eades had six for the Cubs.

Madison (12-2) hosts Silver Creek on Tuesday.

— Shawe’s boys basketball teams will be honoring the Boys Basketball Topper Club Donors for the last two years before the tip of the boys game tonight at home against Oldenburg.

The program is to honor the people and companies that have made generous donations to the boys basketball program. The Topper Club was started over 10 years ago and helps provide some of the equipment and needs for the boys basketball team.

Any individual or group that has donated to the Shawe Topper club over the last two seasons is invited and will be honored before the game. The ceremony will take place after the girls game and should start at approximately 7:15 p.m.

— Applications have been delivered to local schools for The Lide White Boys & Girls Club’s 2019 youth wrestling season.

The Club will form teams and compete during a league season with a season-ending tournament. The league is open to boys and girls between age four and fifth grade.

Application can also be picked up at the Club, located at 1551 Madison State Hospital Northgate Road and eventually on the Club’s website at www.lidewhite.com.

— Carroll County Parks and Recreation has extended its deadline for registration for boys and girls youth volleyball grades kindergarten through sixth.

The league runs mid January through late February and teams and the format of play will depend on the number of players who participate. The league is traditionally a camp setting with instruction and coaching provided by the high school volleyball team. For more info, visit carrollcountyparksandrecreation.webspace.splay.com.

Grote scores career-high 38 in 76-47 Shawe rout at Rock Creek Academy

sports@madisoncourier.com

Kate Grote scored a career-high 38 points to lead Shawe Memorial to a 76-47 girls basketball win at Rock Creek on Thursday and halt the Hilltoppers’ 10-game losing streak.

Grote, who entered the game leading the area in scoring at just under 22 points per game, had posted a previous career-high of 37 points against Medora in late November. Claire Higgins owns Shawe’s single-game scoring record with 46.

Three other Hilltoppers reached double figures in the win. Phoebe Grote also set a new career-high with 13 points while Grace McAllister scored 12 and Abigail Hill had 10.

Abbey Guidry, a 5-foot-7 senior guard, led Rock Creek with a career-high 34 points.s

Shawe, now 4-13 on the season, hosts Oldenburg Academy tonight as part of a girls-boys doubleheader at Meny Gym.
